Reported Attacking
El Alamein, 65 Miles from Big Naval Base.

BULLETIN
By The Associated Press
Cairo, July 1.—General Sir Claude Auchinleck declared in order of the day to his army today that "the war is not over and will be over until we have defeated the enemy and destroyed his power."

By The Associated Press
Cairo, July 1.—A German attempt to launch a new offensive near Ghatask, advance point 100 miles east of Alex, has been frustrated by British counter-attacks.
The army newspaper Red reported today.

British field headquarters assigned today that Axis troops were in the El Alamein, only 65 miles from British's great forward naval base at Alexandria and the eight-eighth of Egypt thus seemed close. Official London quarters said that the Suez Canal was not to be destroyed.

The Nazi command described Marion as the last British fortification guarding Alexandria.
The British acknowledged Axis troops had reached beyond El Al, 35 miles west of El Alamein, and indicated that the decisive battle was approaching.

Linked with the defense of Egypt, Britain's embellished fortress island of Malta was declared by the American today to have received reinforcements of planes and American help.

It is the most-bombarded spot in the world, strategically important as a base for attacks on Africa and the Middle East.

By the U. S. aircraft carrier
"Bogue," a series of triumphant attacks on the dangerous waters of the Mediterranean to deliver the planes which were quickly destroyed by British RAF pilots.

The expertly timed arrival of the planes was the most fortunate for the heroic forces of the British stronghold, the cause of the United States, the navy said.

The communication said merely that at least some British pilots had been shot down, leaving open the possibility that American planes would be shot down.

Deadlock Leaves Farm Dept. Without Funds To Carry On

Agreement Expected Today To Permit Department
To Continue Widespread Activities.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—An unprecedented congressional stalemate brought to a technical halt today the far-flung activities of the agriculture department outside the department but the thousands of workers planned nevertheless to return to their desks in anticipation of a belated settlement.

950 REGISTER IN 18-20 GROUP

514 in Marion County Sign on Second Day: Numbering Plans Listed.

The registration of 950 young men in the 18-20 year group registered for selective service Saturday and Tuesday with Marion's three draft boards.

The registration was more than 100 over the anticipated total, but the figure includes a fairly large group of men from other cities whose registration cards will be returned to their home boards.

Approximately 514 youths registered yesterday. The registration total Saturday was 436.
Board 2 (Wards 4, 5 and 6) reported approximately 160 registrations, including several taken at City hospital, which is within the board's jurisdiction. Yesterday's registration on Board 1 (Wards 1, 2 and 3), totaled 113, and Board 3 (Rural) registered 241.

Those who registered in the 18-20 year group will receive serial and order numbers on the basis of their birth dates, instead of through a national lottery as in previous registrations, state selective service headquarters reported.

Headquarters attaches estimated that the total of Ohioans registered would be about 165,000.
A headquarters announcement said numbers would be assigned as follows:
Registrants born Jan. 1, 1922,
will be numbered in sequence through June 30, 1924. Boards lacking registrants (born Jan. 1, 1922) will first number the card showing the birth nearest that date and the others in proper sequence. In event of more than one card for any date, they will be arranged in alphabetical order of the registrants' names.

The registrant whose card heads the complete list will receive serial number N-1, the second N-2, and so on.
The registrant with serial number N-1 will then receive the next available order number in his local board.
By placing new registrants at the end of lists already issued or order numbers, headquarters said, classification of 20-year-olds is not expected to begin until classification of previously registered men of military age has been completed.

Marion County Near Final Goal in Rubber Drive

Marion county's scrap rubber drive is six and one-quarter tons over its original 125-ton quota and only 18 1/2 tons short of the revised 143 1/2 ton goal, tabulator
George Long of the Standard Oil Co. reported today. The drive, started two weeks ago by presidential proclamation, was scheduled to end yesterday but has been extended 10 days because of unfavorable reports in many sections of the nation.
A total of 25,122 pounds of scrap was collected in Marion yesterday. Of this amount, 718 pounds was donated and the remaining amount was purchased at a penny a pound rate by petroleum dealers. This was the largest amount collected in any one day since the drive started,
Mr. Long said.
Since the drive began Marion

Aerial Bombs To Launch Defense Muster Tonight

Final Plans Made for First Full Scale Mobilization of Marion's Civilian War Units.

Some time between 7:30 and 9:30 tonight aerial bombs will call Marion's approximately 1,500 men, women, boys and girls of civilian defense and Scout organizations to a test mobilization for inspection by army officers here in connection with the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

It will be the first army inspection of the city's civilian defense set-up.

The booming of the aerial bombs will be accompanied by the screaming of the sirens of ambulances and the sounding of factory whistles, mobilization officials said.

Aerial bombs will signal the all-clear and immediately upon the signal, heads of all units will meet at the control center in the old North State Street school to hear the officers' report as to the effectiveness of the mobilization.

"We are seeking criticism of our civilian defense organization," Coordinator William R. Martin said this morning.

A list of four telephone numbers which unit heads should use tonight in making first reports to the control center was announced by Mr. Martin. They are: 321-1551; 2403; 2129.

Mr. Martin emphasized that those who should report at the center after the all-clear include air raid wardens, and district auxiliary police captains.

The army officers will cruise throughout the city during the mobilization and at the control center afterward they will report their reaction as to its effectiveness. They have been especially requested by Mr. Martin to look for vulnerable points on which the program should be criticized.

Such criticism, he said, will help effectively create a truly effective civilian defense program.
The mobilization will call into action the air raid wardens, auxiliary fire and police units, medical units, motorcycle corps, Boy and Girl Scouts, road repair crews, decontamination squads, public utilities workers and the civilian defense staff officers.

Victory Bond, Stamp Sale Opens in Stores

15-Minute "Whiteout" Launches Marion Retailers' Participation in Month's Campaign.

Business was at a standstill at most stores in Marion today as merchants and employees launched the Retailers for Victory war stamp and bond campaign with a "Whiteout" from 12 noon to 12:15.

The only wares offered to customers were war stamps and application blanks for war bonds as the retailers joined the nationwide drive to sell a billion dollars worth of stamps and bonds in the month of July.

The Marion merchants' quota
for the month is $10,000.
In restaurants during the "Whiteout" patrons were given the opportunity to purchase stamps from girls proffering them on trays.

Virtually all the stores and restaurants tuned their radios to Station WMRN during the 15-minute period to hear a presentation of the "Retailers for Victory" program by Mayor Russell
C. Smith and Jerry Bowen, campaign head, and a variety of patriotic music selections.

All of the stores were supplied with stamps of 10, 25 and 50 cent and $1 denominations and album and with application blanks for bonds.

In most stores where applications for bonds were made the applications will be taken to one of the banks or a federal loan and the bonds will be delivered by the retailer to the purchaser.

However, at one store a federal loan employee was called in and was kept busy during the 15-minute period issuing bonds.

Throughout the month of July Marion merchants and merchants throughout the United States will push the sale of stamps and bonds.
It is the first concerted move by the retail stores, large and small and of every variety, to push the financing of the war, although many stores have been offering war stamps to customers for months.

Nationwide Program
The noon sales campaign was an event throughout the nation
as clerks halted their regular sales to sell war stamps and bonds exclusively for at least 15 minutes.

Official interest in this month's results was heightened by the fact that the treasury failed to make its June goal of $800,000,000.
The Associated Press reported while final figures are not available it appeared that sales were less than $700,000,000.

If the $1,000,000,000 a month goal is reached, the treasury will have a surplus of $100,000,000.

WPA RECREATION CENTER IS CLOSED

Only Two Projects Now Left
in County.

The city and county today quit paying rent on the Marion club building on South Prospect street, used for the past year as a WPA recreation center and before that used for some time as the county relief headquarters.

The city and county action resulted from curtailment of WPA projects. In operation, the household aid and sewing center programs. Road jobs were shut down two months ago as private jobs called workers from WPA and the WPA program generally tapered off.

Future plans for use of the building, owned by the Marion Club House Co., are indefinite.
The building formerly was the meeting place of the Marion club, which now has quarters at Hotel Harding. The height of its popularity came during the Harding presidential campaign.

They were told the operation was fully satisfactory and that Col. Huling is considered in excellent condition. Col. Huling was taken ill suddenly June 18.

DEBATE OPENS ON NATION'S WAR EFFORT

Cabinet Minister Denies Lack of Weapons at Fault in African Battle.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 1.—Britain's war production minister and his predecessor denied today that lack of guns, tanks and planes were responsible for British military defeats in North Africa as Winston Churchill's critics launched their "no confidence" attack on his direction of the war.

Oliver Lyttelton, minister of production, told the house of commons that manufacturers' exhaustion and lack of tanks and the supplying of American-made diver-bombers to British forces in the field was progressing steadily and added:

19 DIE IN TWO PLANE CRASHES

California and West Va. Accident Victims Reported To Be Army Men.

By The Associated Press
MARCH FIELD, Calif., July 1.—
Nine persons were killed today in the crash of an army bomber,
the fourth air force announced.

By The Associated Press
WELCH, W. Va., July 1.—A big airplane apparently a converted airliner, crashed and burned in the West Virginia mountains near here today with a loss of at least 10 lives.

State Troopers Earl Yeager and Tom Harrison said 10 bodies had been removed from the charred null and that most of the victims were believed to be army men.

The plane crashed in a garden about a half mile from the mining village of Premier, three miles from Welch.

Eight bodies were first removed and then two more. Troopers said the search was continuing for others.

All the bodies recovered were burned beyond recognition, the troopers said.

The scene of the catastrophe is in the southern part of West Virginia a few miles from the Virginia line. The entire section, one of the nation's leading coal producing areas, is mountainous.

Mrs. Lawrence Runyon, wife of the mine superintendent at Premier, said she saw a large plane in trouble shortly after noon.

The big plane was dropped off, she said, and the plane straight for a hilltop. It came to rest in a valley on the other side of the hill.

Other witnesses told troopers that they heard a roaring noise
as the plane moved near the hilltops.
It appeared, they said, as if the pilot were trying to straighten out the plane.

He apparently succeeded but at that moment the wing fell and the crash followed.

Trooper Yeager said a pilot's report on what remained of the fuselage identified the ship as belonging to American Airlines.

The cabin and fuselage were badly smashed and the fire which broke out immediately after the crash of the occupants a chance to escape even had they survived the crackup.

On a belt buckle owned by one of the officers described by the name Erwin Stralman, a badge bore the name Lloyd Hyde and the flight of a box had the name of Guy S. Hill.

Most of the victims were identified as army personnel by their carried uniforms, the officers said.

Naval Air Experts See Flying Plane Carriers

Each Would Carry 10 to 12 Planes and Would Be Far Less Costly Than Sea-Going 'Flat Tops.'

By BILL MONT
Wash. World-Milliers Editor

WASHINGTON, July 1.—If this is to be a long war, the navy's plan to build flying plane carriers, which would appear logical from the fact that they used their air force sparingly. This could be due to a desire to keep intact what they had while production was halted on one type and begun on another.

Installation of a new production line, according to the best estimates, can be carried out only at a sacrifice of time in which 2,000 to 3,000 of the older type planes could have been delivered.

We are, however, going to have radically new types and considerably improved versions of present aircraft, since that improvement process is being carried on constantly in all of our aircraft plants. Just when those new planes can be expected to go into action is something the enemy would dearly love to know.

Another argument offered in favor of such carriers is the fact that they could be built with a very slight drain on our supplies of strategic materials, notably metals, and a strong likelihood that the further development of planes might make it possible to eliminate the use of such materials entirely.

Such aircraft carriers, while they would be vulnerable to mass aerial attack, could carry heavy defensive armament, would be quite maneuverable in dodging enemy planes, and even if shot down, would represent nowhere near the loss entailed in material or men which goes to the bottom of the sea with a seagoing carrier.

In addition, their sponsors point out, for the price of one seagoing carrier, we could build enough airships to carry the same number of planes, and at the same time would not be putting all our eggs in one basket. What's more, they claim, an airship carrier would be able to reach its objective much more quickly (a 10,000-mile range at 60 miles per hour with 10 planes), while it would not be affected in its operation by rough seas and unfavorable wind conditions which are the hazards a seagoing carrier must face.

Naval aviation experts, for instance, notably Capt. Charles E. Rosendahl, have a pet project by which this country could produce a fleet of aerial aircraft carriers, rigid airships, which of 10,000, 200 cubic feet compared to the 6,000,000 of the Akron and the Macon, each could carry 10 to 12 planes which could be dive-bombers, scouts and fighters.

The Enemy in Our Midst

ASIDE from evidence that J. Edgar Hoover's bureau of investigation is on its toes, the most important consequence of the capture of the eight German agents ticked for their just deserts, traitors and spies, will be a toughening of United States war psychology.

There can be no doubt now that the enemy in our midst is a terrible threat. He has been transformed from a possibility to a reality. Whatever doubt may have lingered about Germany's intentions and Japan's too—is blown sky high by proof that they are 100 per cent. murderers.

Proved instances of sabotage have been rare not because of the enemy's failure to try but because his attempts have been resisted energetically. Everything that has been done to make sabotage difficult is suddenly significant. The guards the searchlights, the high fences, the censors running down of clues—these have not been means of stalling something imaginary but something actual.

Obviously, that realization is now. It hasn't been easy to reach. In World War I, the United States actually invited sabotage by an incredible lack of precaution. There have been numerous examples of carelessness in World War II. It has been hard for Americans to grasp the implications of Germany's thoroughness in war. They haven't wanted to admit to themselves that Germany would try to bring the war even closer than the submarine blockade; that Germany would try to wage war inside this country just as they did before and after 1917; that the German practice of war entails the subversion of an enemy's own citizens whenever traitors can be found.

There are no signs at the moment of a spy scare. There are only signs that every alert person reminded that sabotage is part of the enemy's war plan will be doubly alert and that it will be doubly difficult, consequently, for enemy agents to carry out their schemes and plots.

Let's Have It Straight

CONTINUATION of the rubber collection drive to July 10 because results so far have been disappointing seems to call for some straight talking. When President Roosevelt explained the drive, he spoke of "old" and "used" rubber. It was generally understood that the drive was to collect rubber no longer in use—discarded tires, old rubber articles that had been junked.

But now the public is confronted with the example of Secretary of Interior Ickes, who has rolled up a White House doormat and sent it off to a collection center. The same official speaks of citizens "hoarding" rubber and mentions the possibility of finding a lot of it in public buildings. If he speaks officially and if he means what he seems to mean, then the whole aspect of the rubber collection drive has changed.

Patriots would have to turn in their garden hose, stair treads, rubber sponges, golf balls, rubber-soled shoes and everything else in their possession that contained rubber, whether it was still in use or not. Obviously, they have not been doing this. They have been turning in rubber articles that were out of use, in the belief that this was a drive to collect scrap rubber. If it is now a drive to collect rubber—all rubber—the people should be so informed.

Turkey Shoot

WITH so many solemn guesses to choose from, it seems almost facetious to suggest that the really serious effect of the Libyan fiasco (if that's what it was) may be on Turkey, which the United States government regards so highly that it has been sending lend-lease supplies there to help the Germans.

This surmise is reached via the Mediterranean and the Suez canal, same route by which the supplies reach Turkey. With Germany in control of all the land bases on the African and European shores of the Mediterranean, the supplies couldn't be sent any more. The United Nations would have lost their last friend in the near east.

It all goes back of course to the famous pincers idea of warfare. The Libyan campaign was one jaw, the campaign in southern Russia the other. The Libyan jaw threatens to close more rapidly than the Russian jaw, but in any event Turkey is the objective. With it out of the way, the Germans could romp into the Caucasus where all that oil is without raising a sweat.

Of course, it's dangerous to oversimplify these matters. Turkey is a long way from Libya, and Prime Minister Churchill says the British will fight like fury in Egypt. Still, Turkey can't be dismissed. After all, in June a year ago Germany signed a 10-year non-aggression pact with the Turks, and that is practically certain proof that Turkey's destruction was on the Nazi agenda. Franz von Papen, the intriguer, hasn't spent all this time toying with the Turks for lack of something more important to do.

News Behind the News

Here's a Suggestion That MacArthur Open Second European Front.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Paraphrasing stories have been creeping into the press, suggesting the Canadian General Andrew George Latta MacNaughton might be chosen to head the British and American armies invading Europe.

His choice would be a compromise. Both Americans and British would prefer to have one of their own in command.

Not a lot is known of General MacNaughton here. He was an artilleryman in the World War and Canadian chief of staff for six years before 1935. In this war he was in France, before Dunkirk, in command of the First Division. Lately he has been in command of Canadian forces in England.

Next to production of equipment, the selection of generals is the most vital part of war. The Libyan campaign is proving this pointedly at the moment, but it was true back in the Civil War and beyond.

Obviously, generals should not be chosen for any other reason than superior ability—not for political reasons, not for diplomatic compromises.

The man needed to head the invasion of Europe must be the best man in the armies of the United Nations for that job. Until somebody arises and says MacNaughton is qualified for that ground and proves it, there may be some discussion with the suggestion.

Meanwhile General MacArthur, who is clearly the best of our to show himself, thus far, and better than anyone the British or Canadian have shown in defending Australia, a job which seems likely to require less intelligence than the creation of a second front.

Libyan Explanations

A semi-official British account for the Libyan disaster (which is probably more than semi) traces all their troubles to General Ritchie's premature counter-attack three weeks ago (June 4).

He did not realize the Nazi tank strength, having received inadequate reconnaissance reports, and threw his tanks into a daring and risky maneuver which shattered British armor power, enabling Rommel to seize the initiative. The British have been on the run since.

Incidentally, after all the commencing that has been done about the magnificent German 88 MM tank guns, this account shows the superior German fire power was not based alone on this gun, which is a mobile artillery field piece. The Germans had 47 MM and 75 MM guns in their tanks, while the bulk of the British tanks (Valentines and Matildas) carried a shorter range two pounder.

This means our General Grants, with their 75s are still a match for the Nazi any day. In this connection the semi-official British report says:

"The British had a number of General Grant tanks, but not enough of them."

Thus it appears that while the British had superiority in tanks (as well as planes, ships and troops) they did not have the right kind. Their big six-pounder anti-tank guns began to arrive after Rommel started the campaign, but not in sufficient numbers.

At Stake in Egypt

No one here minimizes the gravity of what the British have been defending in Egypt. It is not just the Suez Canal, but the whole middle east and its oil, in fact the future course of the war.

If driven from Alexandria and Cairo they would presumably retire into Palestine and Syria (where they have a very small force) to defend the Mosul oil fields.

Such a defense could not easily be maintained over a long period, with Hitler possessing finer lines of supplies and undisputed hold on the whole Mediterranean, which would become an axis lake. Turkey's neutrality would come under Nazi supervision.

Hitler's acquisition of middle east oil and a possible juncture with the Axis through Persia and India could at least add a couple of years to the war.

Communist Cry

Communist sympathizers and their "Daily Worker" are trying now to call even the state department "Nazi."

This government has attempted to help the French along moderately in order to keep the French fleet and African bases out of Nazi hands. The policy has worked fairly well so far. Now two ships are loading in New York with low grade kerosene, cotton textiles, sugar and tea for French West African ports in furtherance of this policy.

The Communist publications and Communist dock workers doubt that these goods are destined for French African natives, but choose to think they are going to Hitler with the approval of this government. They will be calling Mr. Roosevelt a Nazi next.

Those Aleutian Islands

A National Geographic Bulletin

spread out in a sweeping arc across the United States, the Aleutian Islands would stretch from Washington, D. C., to Kansas City, Mo. Dutch Harbor, off Unalaska Island in the eastern third of the chain, would be found at Charlottesville, Va., while Kiska, where Japanese ships were reported, would fall south of St. Louis. The "finger" held of the Japanese at westernmost Attu would come to Kansas City.

The nearest Japanese territory to the Aleutians is in the northern Kurile Islands (Chishima), about 750 miles southwest of Attu. From Attu it is nearly a thousand straight-line air miles to the Alaska mainland. Kiska lies southeast of Attu by 180 miles.

The volcanic Aleutians, which include a dozen or more larger islands and innumerable smaller ones, are generally mountainous, with rocky and often precipitous shores. Navigation is considered extremely dangerous because of the many islets, shoals, and hidden rocks offshore, with hazards further intensified by frequent fogs and gales.

Attu Island, which rises to a height of more than three thousand feet, is especially rugged, with much volcanic fissured rock. It offers in general unfavorable ground for air bases; a few areas might be made into emergency fields by use of steel mats.

Attu is about 35 miles long, irregular in shape, the island is deeply cut in the south by a number of long, slim inlets about which little is known except the navigation hazards for approaching ships.

Kiska Island, about 20 miles long and with more open space than Attu, has a high mountain backbone, whose greatest elevation is a northern peak of more than 4,000 feet. On the low-lying east-central coast is Kiska harbor, which even before the war was closed to foreign shipping. The harbor is a broad and deep indentation, further protected by the presence of Little Kiska Island, extending across its mouth. A number of other islands, some of which are mere tide-washed rocks, rise between the two war-milleghed spots of Attu and Kiska.

With the exception of Attu and Kiska (the latter situated at about the halfway point of the entire Aleutian group) few of the western islands are inhabited. Most of the Aleutians (a Russianized version of the Alaska Eskimo) live on the three or four major islands near the Alaska end of the chain.

Problem Solved

CINCINNATI, O.—Plagued by a shortage of male help, a Cincinnati grocer hired Dorothy Evans, 18, to run his delivery service.

And she's doing so well, said owner Lou Mohr, that he is grooming her for managership of the store should he be called to military duty.

Dorothy was well prepared for her job, having driven a truck for her mother's poultry market since she was 12. The new job is a heavy one, sometimes requiring the lifting of 100 pound sacks, but Dorothy says she likes it.

Fully Informed

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Anglers who visit state controlled lakes should have no excuse for violation of fishing and boating laws.

The conservation division erected bulletin boards containing up-to-the-minute information on fishing and boating regulations. The boards will be maintained by the fish management section of the department.

Do You Know—

A bass drum contains enough steel for two bayonets; a trumpet enough brass for sixty .30 caliber cartridge cases.

Zinc and copper in one automobile would make 2,400 .30-cal. cartridge cases.

The Lac Du Flambeau Indian reservation includes 126 lakes within its 160 square mile area. The largest town in Butte county, Cal. is Chico, which is the Spanish word for small.

Normally, bees in Canada produce from 25 to 39 million pounds of honey a year.

Colorado has 3,400,000 acres under irrigation, second largest in the nation.

In prehistoric times most of Kansas was a vast inland sea. Ten thousand tons of steel went into the metal-tops of the 1,000,000 jars manufactured last year to hold cosmetic products.

The steel that goes into a single sewing machine will make a high explosive shell for a 75 mm. field howitzer.

About 35 per cent of Cuba's sugar mills are owned by Americans.

Eleven Suggestions for Winning the War

New Yorker Magazine Keeps a Promise.

FIRST to suggest establishment of a war information office with Elmer Davis in charge was the New Yorker magazine, which sometimes says flippantly what other publications say seriously—and frequently with greater effect.

When the New Yorker proposed Elmer Davis for information chief last March, it promised to offer 11 more suggestions for winning the war if the first one were accepted. True to its promise, the magazine now has submitted 11 recommendations. They are:

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, July 1, 1932. After a tumultuous night-long session, the Democratic national convention at Chicago collapsed into the dawning light of a dead-end at dawn took three trillies and then adjourned till night to think it over. All opening of the night session, the fourth ballot was taken and Franklin D. Roosevelt nominated.

At the time, the leading candidates were Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith and John N. Garner. George White, Ohio governor, stood fourth with 52½ votes. Forty-nine and a half of these came from the Ohio delegation.

Mrs. W. T. Owen and Mrs. Clark Lawrence of South Vin Street left to spend the summer at their cottage at Lakeside.

Miss Florence Spaulding of Indianapolis State Red Cross supervisor, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Schrader of East Center Street. Miss Spaulding was formerly supervising Red Cross nurse in Marion.

Mrs. Frank Egan, 58, died at her home on Park Street. She was the third and fourth degrees was conferred on a class of five candidates at a meeting of Mr. Olive Grange in the Green Camp school building. The candidates were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tilton, Dwight Hedges, Warren Hedges and Fred Smallwood.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, July 1, 1922. Railway shop-crafts throughout the country were on strike.

President Harding and a party started on their trip from Washington to Marion to attend the community's centennial celebration. The president's immediate party was small but others were to follow in the afternoon. The trip was made in motor cars. The principal guests were Charles R. King and Erik G. Pershing.

Daves, both of whom were scheduled to speak at the President's conference that during his week's absence from Washington the coal operators and miners would make material progress toward settling a strike that had been mining operations for some time. He left the matter in the hands of the three cabinet officers—of the menacing railroad strike, the President was of the opinion that nothing could be done until the railway labor board had thrashed out its own differences.

G. H. Foster, chairman of the centennial parade committee, announced the routing of the parade, designating each organization's position. The parade intended to depict the period in history covered by Marion's 100 years, was to be divided into divisions representing from 10 to 20 years each. The history was to lead up to Armistice day with a scene depicting that memorable event enacted by members of the Marion Kiwanis club.

Official program for the centennial was also issued, extending from Sunday, July 2, through Wednesday, July 5. Included among the speakers at a World War veterans reunion program at the fairgrounds on Wednesday afternoon were to be John R. McQuinn, Capt. Eddie Rickbacher, World War flying ace, Charles S. Darlington, Ohio commander of the American Legion, and Winford McNider, national commander of the American Legion.

other publications say seriously—and frequently with greater effect.

When the New Yorker proposed Elmer Davis for information chief last March, it promised to offer 11 more suggestions for winning the war if the first one were accepted. True to its promise, the magazine now has submitted 11 recommendations. They are:

1. Decide on a standard of military fitness for the army and stop turning down men who volunteer only to draft them later.

2. Evacuate the Stork Club naval establishment to the Harvard summer school for a refresher course.

3. Never announce to the American public an impending shortage. Wait till all the rationing rules have been worked out, then announce the whole thing.

4. Invade Occupied France on Bastille day. Do it with a big force if possible; if that is inadvisable, but do it.

5. Mobilize American surpluses. Call them gargantuans, and train them to repel the invader. Teach civilians simple rules that every Russian and Chinese know—how to damage a tank tread with a core bottle, how to erase a paratrooper.

6. Get the road to Alaska built quicker by half.

7. Admit Chinese military men to our war councils and learn about Nippon from them.

8. Stop circling heroes for publicity and propaganda purposes. If a hero develops somewhere, decorate him in front of his buddies and leave him there to fight.

9. Require all government officials to write their own speeches, then cut all these speeches in half and throw three quarters of them away.

10. Establish an American bomber command for operations in Yugoslavia to assist Gen. Draja Mihailovich, the greatest guerrilla commander alive.

11. Recall Clare Boothe from major battle fronts.

The Little Tin Guys

Navigators Guide Bombers There and Back.

WITHOUT navigators, bombers would be freightloads of destruction rushing at terrific speed through trackless space with no purpose or destination. And navigators don't just happen; they must be made.

The United States is making them by the thousands at four specialized schools. They call them the "little tin guys," because their nerves seem to be all metal, their minds work like compasses and their job is to work out faultlessly the calculations that smashed the Japanese fleet at Midway and dropped fire and destruction on Tokyo. The navigators get 'em there and get 'em back.

Aviation cadets to be appointed navigators must be steady, nervous, cool-headed individuals capable of making lightning decisions. A navigator must master the equivalent of a full college course in a short time. He must have the brawn and wind to move about in a plane at high altitudes, for- saking his oxygen—able to work complicated problems at dizzy heights where an average man cannot add three and six.

Once classified as a navigator, he starts his training. He gets a course in the nav-training machine that simulates all conditions of navigation. He spends 10 weeks on ground class for eight hours a day and three hours a night. He is awakened in the dead of night and routed out to study the stars. He learns the theory of celestial radio, pilotage and dead reckoning navigation.

Then his classroom goes to the sky. Students sit at desks in planes. They spend 100 hours in the air. The courses a navigator charts may take him over several states. He directs the ship through day and night missions. He must stay awake. Finally, the navigator gets his wings and a second

Story Writers

Bret Harte and O. Henry Both Had Extraordinary Ability Though We Think the Latter was Greater.

By DAMON RUNYON

A COLUMBIAN contemporary, Z. V. During, was no little when, answering a customer's query as to how he would compare O. Henry and Bret Harte, remarks glibly: "O. Henry is not in the same class as Bret Harte. O. Henry wrote hundreds of stories but only two good ones: 'The Gift of the Magi' and 'Alias Jimmy Valentine'."

"I will overlook Brother Durling's boor on the last title. O. Henry did not write a story called 'Alias Jimmy Valentine.' He wrote one called 'A Retrieved Reformation,' from which Paul Armstrong contrived his most famous play, 'Alias Jimmy Valentine,' the title being Paul's."

Since the play became better known than the original story, the Durling error is pardonable. But when he says O. Henry is greater than Bret Harte, it must advise Mr. Durling's clever fellow that he is, to examine his score, piece or hat and locate the aperture through which his words seem to be leaking.

As a short story writer, Bret Harte compares to O. Henry in about the same terms as Alsab to a plater. Maybe a better literary handicapper would bring them closer together than that, but it is not a contest on any track. When O. Henry writes O. Henry, he writes only two good short stories; he lays himself open to the suspicion that he is a mediocre writer, though he is not the great Carolinian while exercising greater avidity on Harte.

OR MAYBE he committed the additional error of getting the two names twisted around and really meant that Harte wrote only two good stories, whereas O. Henry wrote only two good short stories. Harte wrote 'The Outcasts of Poker Flat' and 'The Gentleman from San Francisco'.

Maybe O. Henry's partner, Z. V. Durling, is a little better. He wrote 'The Ethics of Pig' and 'The Ransom of Red Rack'—a score of other O. Henry tales that might mention.

I will admit that Harte was a more graceful writer than O. Henry—that he had finer literary style—but O. Henry was a far greater master of plot and invention. That he was influenced to some extent by Harte there can be no doubt, the same thing can be said of many other American short story writers, including O. Henry himself. O. Henry was a Frenchman, Henri Murger, who wrote the stories on which the opera 'La Bohème' was based.

NOW that I think of it, I do not know why I am arguing with a friend Durling. I read his article on O. Henry and Harte. The two writers were in the same class, but the latter, because O. Henry was essentially logical, especially in his famous stories of New York. But neither is exactly new, though both created great fictions in their respective eras.

Harte was perhaps more of a sensation for a spell than O. Henry, later became Harte was first to reflect a phase of American pioneer life that fascinated the reading public on both sides of the Atlantic. He lived high when the going was good but he wrote himself out comparatively early and finally wound up in a minor posthumous edition. O. Henry, on the other hand, was a more of a steady state, before he had any great opportunity to cash in on the literary money. He was a magazine editor, more than a writer, and he got small prices for his best stories and always needed a little fresh dough. Probably his works produced more revenue after his death than he was able to make when alive.

His memory survives to this day in intermittent movies based on his various characters and there is still a big picture on his life. It would be a pity to let his great name be forgotten.

Await Canada's Call

By The Associated Press

OTTAWA—Registration of engineers and scientists with the wartime bureau of technical personnel is being urged in the nation's capital, according to H. W. Lea, of Montreal, bureau director.

"We estimate there are 25,000 engineers and scientists in Canada and we have complete information on 22,000 of them in our files," Mr. Lea said. "Of those who have registered, more than 75 per cent have expressed a willingness to undertake work which may be considered more essential to the war effort than what they now are doing."

The bureau's power is largely along the lines of the negative compilation policy of Canada's entire manpower program. The bureau's duties are: preparing the list of military, naval, and air force employees; making recommendations to discontinue an employee who leaves temporarily to undertake essential war work but it is seldom necessary to exercise this power, Mr. Lea says.

The 22,000 completed questionnaires in the bureau's files constitute the most complete record ever compiled of Canada's technical manpower. Greatest shortage is in research scientists, of which Canada has only about 2,500.

Soldier Paints Murals for Air Field

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Mural paintings which have attracted wide recognition decorate the day room of one of the school squadrons at Luke Field, near here, because Pvt. Francis S. Donahue, of Cleveland, was ambitious to do something better than paint numbers on airplanes.

The murals depict the past, present and future of the air corps advanced training base. Pictured are Lt. Frank Luke, Jr., the Arizona balloon buster of the world war for whom the field is named; the late Capt. Colin Kelly; Brig. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, field commandant; Maj. W. L. Hall, commanding officer of the squadron; a panorama of the field, with purple mountains in the background and hangars and ramps in the foreground; profiles of President Roosevelt and General Douglas MacArthur, and a detailed portrait of a pilot in full equipment.

Before he enlisted, Pvt. Donahue was display manager for a department store and worked in pastel and fresco. He was assisted in the murals by Pvt. James W. Yeabold, also of Cleveland, cartoonist and free lance artist.

Buckwheat as Source of Honey

By The Associated Press

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—To the average American buckwheat means breakfast pancakes, but in these days of sugar rationing and labor shortage the crop is being used for honey production and economic poultry feeding, says J. W. White, professor of soil technology at Pennsylvania State College.

When the plants are in flower, an acre of buckwheat may supply enough nectar for bees to make 100 to 150 pounds of honey, he says. Buckwheat blooms after clover is gone and before other flowers develop on which the bees may work.

After the grain ripens, it may be used for turkey pasture. "Turkeying down" buckwheat is a new and economical way of harvesting the grain, he points out. According to poultrymen who have tried it, labor is saved and there is a complete utilization of the crop in addition to high replacement of other feeds.

PLANS MADE FOR SOLDIERS' VOTING

Simplified System Adopted for Ohio Primary.

A simplified plan for soldiers voting by mail will be used in the Aug. 11 primary, Secretary of State John E. Sweeney announced yesterday. The Associated Press reported. Earlier it was announced that the plan would be in effect at the November election.

The Marion county board of elections is making preparations to give citizens of the county the opportunity to use the new simplified plan, C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board, said.

In accordance with a plan adopted by Mr. Sweeney, the board will have printed postal card size forms of application for ballots and will distribute them to the three district boards. The simplified form for application for absentee voting will do away with an involved procedure, according to Mr. Sweeney.

In notifying election boards throughout the state of the new procedure for citizens in service, the secretary of state pointed out that Ohio law provides that no application for an absentee voter's ballot can be acted upon prior to 30 days before an election.

Election boards have been directed to provide a receivable in which to place the application cards received from members of the armed forces. The applications will be checked for proper information and when ballots are sent the cards will be attached to the registration forms and will become permanent records.

AMERICAN BOMBERS MEET JAP CHALLENGE

Long Range Attacks in Pacific Cited as Evidence.

By The Associated Press

HEADQUARTERS, HAWAIIAN AIR FORCE, July 1.—American bombing crews are meeting the challenge of long-range combat operations which in the Pacific have opened a new chapter in world warfare.

Major General William H. Hale, commanding U.S. air forces in the mid-Pacific, said today.

He cited the June 27 raid on Jap-held Wake island, 2,000 nautical miles west of Pearl Harbor, as an example.

General Hale disclosed that Col. Roger M. Ramey of Denton, Tex., led the army bombers on their long over-water mission which leveled the ground defenses on Wake, and commended the pilots, navigators and bombardiers for their "fine teamwork."

The general in his first interview since being appointed to his new command, said air forces "will be the controlling factor in the Pacific" and that American forces "are fighting as one team—army, navy and marines."

But he warned the showdown is yet to come and it "looks like a long, hard job."

"We are strong, but so is the enemy," he said. "The Japanese have real planes, manned by real fighters who are highly skilled and well trained."

HARD RAIN STORM HITS CENTRAL OHIO

Washout on C. & O. Line Discovered Near Lancaster.

LANCASTER, O., July 1.—After 2 1/2 inches of rain deluged this area in an hour and 35 minutes, Carl Becker, 43, of Columbia

Park yesterday discovered a washout on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad right-of-way and flagged down an Athens-to-Columbus passenger train.

The downpour damaged the track foundation five miles north of here and partially washed out a bridge over the creek. The train's 19 passengers boarded the truck and kept the train stationary for 12 hours.

The electrical storm was general in central Ohio. Lightning exploded an oil tank at Newark.

Some 300 gallons of oil were destroyed. The Hocking river flooded lowlands, damaging some wheat acreage.

At Columbus, four Ohio State university students were injured slightly when lightning struck a three-story building which they sought shelter. Howard Ray, 21, Mansfield, and John Van Echo, 21, St. Clairsville, were in University hospital for treatment of shock and lacerations. Louis Orstein, 23, East Cleveland, and Donald W. Williams, 24, Elgin, were treated for shock and released.

MISS MARY KATHRYN ALHEIT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Alheit of 261 Chestnut street, became the bride of Ralph E. Mills, son of Mrs. William H. Mills of Hane avenue and the late Mr. Mills, last evening in Emanuel Lutheran church. The couple chose the twenty-seventh wedding anniversary of the bride's parents for the double ring ceremony read at 6:45 o'clock by Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor. They were unattended.

For her wedding Miss Alheit chose a dress in a heavenly blue shade with which she wore a full-length coat of sheer navy, trimmed with insets of red at the shoulders and pearl buttons. Her hat of corded silk was in a powder blue shade and her accessories were in white. White roses and blue delphinium fashioned her corsage. For the traditional something old the bride wore a gold bracelet belonging to her mother, and for something borrowed carried a white Bible belonging to Miss Velma Boxwell, a close friend.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, which will include a lake cruise, the bride was wearing a yellow and white jersey dress with brown and white accessories. Upon their return they will be at home at 375 Hane avenue.

Both Mr. Mills and his bride were graduated from Harding High school. The bride is an active member of the Marion Lecture-Recital club, formerly serving on the club board, and is the present counselor of the Juvenile Lecture-Recital club. She is an assistant manager in the office of Fred B. Scherff, manager of the U. S. Employment Service office. Mr. Mills is an inspector at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant.

Mrs. Mildred Conkle and Miss Christine Dallas were entertained at a surprise birthday party at the home of Mrs. Conkle on North Main street Monday. Euchre was played.

Music and songs were provided by Mr. and Mrs. Kerr Conkle and James Kerr, following a potluck supper served at the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drake, Mrs. Floyd Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Roller, Mrs. Eva Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Kerr, Mrs. and Mrs. Wade Conkle, Mr. and Mrs. Kerr Conkle, Mr. and Mrs. James Kerr, Darburn O'Hanlon, Ruth Fox, Paula Martin, Creed Martin, Lee Clark, Junior Sisson, Jean McKnight, Sam Conkle, Buddy Conkle, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Lenhardt of Cardington and Mr. and Mrs. Doris Davis of Mt. Gilead.

At birthday dinners at the home of Mrs. M. J. MacFarland, 121 North Main street, Sunday honored Donald Wilson. The table was decorated with a blue and white birthday cake and pink and white covers were laid for the celebrant, who received a number of remembrances. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Fisher and daughter, Janet Kaye, Mr. and Mrs. Devere Wilson and son, Roger, Lee, Mrs. Donald Wilson, Mrs. Mae Wilson and daughter, Alice, Virginia and Elaine and sons Paul and James, and Lawrence Griffith.

A party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schweinfurth of 121 West Walnut street Saturday evening was in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Nellie Williams, Mrs. Helen McAllister and the hostess. The celebrants received a number of remembrances. Invaluable colors provided a colorful decorative note for the table. Present were Mrs. Ethel Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McAllister, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roberts and the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Her of 247 West Fairground street entertained a group of friends at a slink roast last evening in their home. The evening was spent socially and playing croquet.

Women of St. Paul's Episcopal church and friends of the American Red Cross met at the Parish house yesterday for an all day sewing meeting. At noon lunch was served with Mrs. George Van Fleet and Mrs. Charles Moore as hostesses. An all-day sewing meeting will be held each Tuesday at the Parish house.

Misses Dorothy and Alea Lindsay of the Prospect pike were hostesses when the J. C. Bible class of the Forest Lawn Sunday school met for the annual picnic Thursday evening. A covered dish dinner was served at

MEETING SET THURSDAY

The meeting of General Welfare of America, which yesterday was announced postponed until a meeting place could be found, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Millie Swearingen, Apt. 6, 128 Orchard street.

A table decorated with flowers, games and singing entertained the members.

Report of Recent Convention Given by Sorority Head

MRS. RAY SUTTON of East Church street was hostess for a meeting of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority last evening. Mrs. Richard Parish, president, who represented the chapter as a delegate to the national convention held over the week-end at South Bend, Ind. gave a report.

Miss Jean Knapp, fiancée of Aviation Cadet Robert F. McCarty of the Army air corps and a bride-elect of August, was presented a gift from the chapter.

Mrs. Parish reported that social events during convention included a Hawaiian banquet and a Good Neighbor buffet supper and dance. Favors were rings with the sorority crest to be used as seals. Mrs. Glen Perry, a past national president, attended the convention with Mrs. Parish.

Bridge was played during a social hour, awards going to Mrs. Theodore Ochs and Miss Joan Boyd. Assisting Mrs. Sutton as a committee were Mrs. Glen Perry, chairman, Mrs. Jack Bray Jr., Miss Alice Gertrude Smith and Miss Pauline Ruhl. A picnic was planned for July 25.

Weddings

Miss Frances Lucille Rush, daughter of Mrs. Clara Rush of Richmond, and Leslie E. Farquar of Marion were married on June 15 in Memphis, Tenn., by Justice Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Farquar returned to Marion after a 10-day stay with his brother and family at Oxford, Miss. Yesterday they left for Waynesville, O., where they will live while Mr. Farquar is in civilian employ. Mr. Farquar is eventually expected to go into civilian service in Hawaii. Mrs. Farquar has been employed as clerk at the Rocker bakery here. Mr. Farquar will continue as owner and manager of the Adding Machine & Typewriter Exchange on Court street.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tucker returned to Charleston, W. Va., yesterday after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Catterlin of near Marion. Mr. Tucker will be inducted in the army Thursday.

BLUEJACKETS TAG DAY SET FOR FRIDAY

Marion Group To Seek Funds for Purchase of Yarn.

Members of a tag day to be sponsored by the local Bundles for Bluejackets group of which Mrs. Mabel Gerhart is president, Friday will be used to purchase yarn to make garments for sailors in the armed forces. The group is numbering approximately 150 and will work in shifts and will be in the business district from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. Contributions will be any amount the donor wishes to give. The garments are being made at the request of the government in response to requests from officers in the Navy. Practically all the garments for which the money will be used will be distributed at the Great Lakes Naval Training station at Chicago and other training points in this section.

the present voluntary sales scheme.

Reports Due Later

Tabulating of the "whiteout" sales results will not be completed for several days, it was indicated at noon.

One store had a stamp booth set up at the entrance and every time a stamp was sold a cowbell over the door, changed the record. The store's own employees' campaign has been divided into the MacArthur and Doolittle camps, with the two teams vying for top honors. Each day a new captain is named, the honor going to the employee who has sold the most stamps.

Orders for stamps and the money were taken by clerks in another store, sent in the cash carriers to the office and the stamps were returned in the carrier for the customer.

The teams of girls who sold the stamps in the restaurants did a good business. They were offering 25-cent stamps.

Sales Girls Busy

The salesgirls at one spot had to send out for more "wares" and at another a man bought $10 worth of stamps, $5 from each girl.

The girls' trays, decorated with "Buy Bonds" posters, held many bills and heaps of nickels, dimes and quarters by the time the "whiteout" was over.

Other's department store this morning received a telegram from the treasury department announcing that the store had been selected as a retail outlet for selling and issuing of bonds. The telegram said supplies would be sent within a short time.

GROTTO DELEGATES BACK FROM NATIONAL MEETING

Brooklyn Judge Elected Head of Masonic Organization.

John E. Davis, of 837 East Center street, monarch of John C. Laval of Hane avenue, master of ceremonies of Kadgar Grotto, have returned from Columbus where they represented Kadgar Grotto at the annual supreme council, Mystic Order, Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Laval and members of the grotto and their wives attended one or more of the sessions.

A ceremonial was held Monday night. Circuit Judge Edward C. Smith of Brooklyn, N. Y., was elevated to the position of monarch, and other officers were advanced. Governor Bricker was made a prophet at sign by Past Grand Monarch William C. Born of St. Louis. The governor gave a talk.

A highlight of the convention was a visit to the Ohio penitentiary. More than 90 members accepted the invitation to make tours of the institution where they witnessed the work of one of the newly organized military units made up of inmates.

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor Floyd Green and Harry Meyer who represented the grand master of the Masonic Lodge of Ohio. Mr. Meyer is a past grand master of the lodge. Headquarters were at the Deshler-Walker hotel. The 1942 convention will be held in New York City.

The meeting closed yesterday afternoon.

At a meeting of Kadgar grotto Monday night a committee will be named by the monarch to arrange for a stag party at the Marion Gun club grounds.

EPWORTH VACATION

BIBLE SCHOOL TO END

Program to Be Given Thursday Night, Picnic Friday

Epworth Methodist daily vacation Bible school which has been in session for the past three weeks, will have a closing program Thursday night, July 30, to which all parents and friends have been invited. The program will include a summer of the work, Bible study, Bible drills, religious hymns, and pictures will be a part of the program. One phase of the program will be a Bible story dramatized by marionettes which have been made in the school as a part of the creative craft work. The craft work of each department will be on exhibit. More than 200 volunteers have been in the program during the school which had an enrollment of 130. Certificates will be granted for regular attendance, which has been high and recognition will be given for outstanding work as well as the work of the teachers and leaders. The school will convene Friday morning for a picnic from 9 to 10:30.

Two Minor Mishaps Reported in City

Two minor traffic accidents were reported by city police yesterday.

Cars driven by Pauline Mary Gunder, 219 E. 347 West Center street, and Clay Powelson, 46, of 186 South Main street, figured in a minor collision on West Center street at 420 p. m. July 30. Wallace Schwartz, 58, of 230 Wallace street, and Miss A. F. Potter, 56, of 160 Merchant avenue, were drivers of cars involved in a mishap at the intersection of Park and Mark streets early last night. Both cars were slightly damaged.

Settlement Believed Near in Hotel Strike

Settlement in the month-old Harding Hotel walkout strike is expected soon, Sam W. Gerstner, acting manager, said today. Hotel officials met union officials and a federal labor conciliator yesterday to discuss terms of a new contract. A second meeting is planned for Thursday.

Clinic's Share in Race Ticket Sales Listed

One dollar from each $5 book of tickets for the Marion Little Grand Circuit harness races starting tonight will be donated to the city hospital baby clinic conducted by the Women's Board of the Marion City hospital. John A. Dodd, president of the board, announced today. It was erroneously stated in The Star last night that all money received from the sale of advanced tickets would be donated to the clinic.

RED CROSS SHIPS FINISHED GARMENTS

Two Cartons Sent to St. Louis by Chapter.

Two cartons of garments were shipped to the American Red Cross warehouse in St. Louis Mo., this morning by the Marion County Red Cross chapter.

In the cartons were 30 girls' skirts, five women's skirts, 10 men's sweaters, 20 women's sweaters, five women's coat sweaters, 35 children's sweaters, 15 children's knitted suits, five mufflers, five afghans, five pairs men's socks, 25 convalescent robes, five pairs men's pajamas and 25 children's sleepers.

City Fireman H. W. Monnette assisted the packing committee in preparing the cartons for shipping.

JAPS

Siberia and the Japanese puppet state of Manchukuo, is under Russian protection.

A London spokesman said there had been a general movement of Japanese forces northward and that the Japanese were evidently preparing to attack Russia at their chosen moment.

"I don't wish to imply that their preparations are complete or that an attack is imminent," the spokesman added.

Chinese reports had repeatedly asserted that Japan was concentrating upward of 500,000 troops in Manchukuo for a thrust into Siberia.

Neutral observers, however, believed Japan would delay attacking Russia until Adolf Hitler's summer offensive had gained a decisive victory over the Red army. There were indications that this offensive now was fast developing.

Other far Pacific developments.

China War Front.—A Tokyo broadcast asserted that Japanese troops had completed occupation of the strategic 450-mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway which leads into China from the coast.

A Domei dispatch said Japanese columns driving toward each other along the railway from the east and west had met at Heng-feng after smashing Chinese forces entrenched on a height west of the town.

Previously, Chinese dispatches asserted the two columns were still 50 miles apart.

Chinese military quarters said Japanese troops might be expected to begin their drive toward the town of Fuchien. Fifty thousand Japanese veterans of the Philippines campaign were reported concentrated on Formosa, across Formosa Strait from Fuchien, while other Japanese forces were reported driving down Kiangsi province toward Fuchien.

Battle of Australia.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that allied command-type troops carried out a daring hit-and-run attack on the Japanese garrison at Salamaua, in New Guinea, and inflicted 60 casualties. Only two allied soldiers were wounded.

United Nations headquarters, 40, announced that allied planes again raided the Japanese bases at Lae just north of Salamaua, and at Rabaul, New Britain.

Madagascar.—Advices reaching Vichy said British patrols and French advances posted were fighting a series of engagements along the west coast of Madagascar, with clashes developing between Makunga and Amblohe, 70 miles southwest of Diego Suarez.

Bucyrus Collects 65 Tons of Rubber in Scrap Drive

BUCYRUS, July 1.—More than 65 tons of salvage rubber has been collected in Bucyrus, it was announced today by R. E. Limbaugh and J. A. Smith, who comprised the local scrap rubber committee. The collections represent rubber brought to local filling stations during the two-week period since the campaign started.

Nimble Thimble Club Meets at Crestline

CRESTLINE, July 1.—Mrs. Bert Smith entertained the Nimble Thimble club at a 6 o'clock dinner at her home Monday. Plans were made to hold a fish fry at Lake Vermilion June 2 and to discontinue meetings until September. Mrs. Lloyd Durbin of Barborton was a guest. Rook prizes were won by Mrs. H. V. Kime and Mrs. Henry Eckstein.

OHIOAN NOMINATED

DENVER, July 1.—B. F. Stanton, who recently retired as superintendent of the Alliance, O. schools, was nominated unopposed for treasurer of the National Education association. Elections will be held tomorrow.

Little Grand Circuit Harness Meet Opens Tonight

39 Eligible for Three-Race Inaugural Card.

By LOREN W. THIBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

By far Marion's No. 1 sporting event of the year, the two-week Little Grand Circuit harness racing season is to be unveiled tonight at county fairgrounds for the approval of an expected 2,500 railbirds from throughout central Ohio.

There are more than 215 head of trotters and pacers awaiting Starter Steve Phillips "Go" signal. Virtually every one of the 175 permanent stables at the track is filled and additional space is being provided for late comers in temporary stalls erected in the vegetable, junior fair and cattle barns.

Among the stables which arrived yesterday are those of Theodore Hill of Sandusky and Charles Norris of Marysville. Between 25 and 30 horses are expected to arrive the last of the week from Indiana tracks. Early racing in the Hoosier state ends Saturday and many of the mounts are expected to race here before starting the Ohio county fair swing.

Six-Dash Card
Three fields numbering 10, 14 and 19 were declared eligible for tonight's six-dash program yesterday. By Presiding Judge Wayne Groves of Placerville, N.C. H. H. Hartman of Quakertown, Pa., is associate judge for the two-week stand.

Only 14 of the sixteen horses entered in the first race, the 2:24 class trot, will go to the post. Camilla Ce-Sar by Don Ce-Sar (Erskine) and De-Ponteflet (France) have been nominated and will race in many horses are scratched. Scratch times is 8:15 a. m. on the day of the race.

Bohemian King by Scotland, with a 2:05 1/2 record, and seven wins in 16 starts is the leading choice in the first race, the 2:24 class trot. The veteran Gabo Cartel will handle the King, owned by L. E. Greer, Newark sportsman.

Other horses named to start with the drivers listed in parenthesis are: Hal Eske, by Columbus Eske (Shaw); Sammy Boy, by Sam Rotan (driver unnamed); Ezra (Edwards); Mary Don, by Bunter Lad (Morris); Ellis A., by

Goshen Track Scene Of Grand Circuit Opening

By The Associated Press
GOSHEN, N. Y., July 1.—Trotters and pacers of the Grand Circuit open their war-shortened program today on Goshen's half-mile track.

The army has taken over the racing strips in Syracuse, N. Y., Indianapolis and Springfield, Ill., and those programs have been cancelled. The bulky men will compete over the Goshen track the remaining four days of this week, then vacation until July 8 when a three-day meeting gets under way.

After that comes stops at the Roosevelt racetrack on Long Island, Old Orchard, Me., Sayona, N. Y., Goshen again for the Hamiltonian program, Milwaukee, Louisville, Reading, Pa., Delaware, Ohio, and Lexington, Ky.

Four More Games To Be Added To Toledo's Program.

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO — The University of Toledo is booking another "big league" basketball schedule for the 1942-43 season.

Dr. Clarence Speers, athletic director, said 20 games already have been scheduled and four more will be added.

The season will start Dec. 5, DePaul college, Detroit Tech and Tri-State university will be the first teams met, followed by Kent State, DePaul, Georgetown university of Washington, Purdue, Dartmouth, Loyola of Chicago, Cincinnati, Xavier, Baldwin-Wallace, Ohio university, Youngstown, Long Island and LaSalle. Long Island will be met in Madison Square Garden New York.

Efforts are being made to add the Great Lakes Naval Training station and a strong Pacific coast quintet to the schedule.

A YANKEE BRAIN SLUMP

By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—It has come to this: The New York Yankees, who have squandered three-fourths of an 11-game lead recently, are on bad right now. They can't even catch a train.

Joe Gordon and Ralph (Red) Kuffe, infielders, went to the wrong station in Chicago Sunday and didn't join their mates until just before game time here yesterday.

To test the efficiency of automobile brakes two Los Angeles men have invented a two-wheeled device to be temporarily attached to a car that carries a speedometer and distance meter geared to its axle.

CINCINNATI GAMES NET RELIEF FUNDS TOTAL OF $36,000

Sailors Down Joint Cub-Red Team, 3-1; Reds Beat Cubs, 4-0.

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, July 1.—Cincinnati is the kind of a town where you can raise money with a bare ball game.

The army-navy relief funds, which have been sort of kicked around in special ball games except at Brooklyn and St. Louis, are more than $36,000 fatter as a result of last night's three-ring circus at the ball park.

To entertain a host of 29,341 people, with not a deadhead in the lot, the Great Lakes Naval station team beat a picked team of Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs 3 to 1. The Reds beat the Cubs 4 to 1 and troops from Fort Knox, Ky., showed the military show in the intermission.

The joint Cub-Red efforts called for 25 players, but no one of them could hit Johnny Rigney or Russell Mears of the Sailors worth a darn. A slight outbreak of one run in the ninth was the major league's best.

The midnightrip was a one-all pitchers' battle between General Bill Lee and Ray Starr until the seventh when Gee Walker singled, advanced two bases on Starr's bunt and scored on a fly. In the eighth with two on, Ray Lamanno doubled, his second of the night to ice the game.

The Reds and Cubs end their brief series tonight with Johnny Vander Meer, the home team probable against Claude Passeau.

Frankie Baumholtz of the Great Lakes Naval Training station team said good-bye to his team-mates after last night's game with the Reds. The former Ohio university basketball star will be commissioned an ensign Thursday and move to the Pacific coast. Frank was centerfielder and lead-off man for Mickey Cochrane's sluggers.

CANTON BEATS ZANESVILLE

By The Associated Press
CANTON, O., July 1.—Paced by Outfielder Cal Barres, who hit a homer with two aboard in the fifth, Canton defeated Zanesville 7 to 3 last night to take over fourth place in the Mid-Atlantic league from idle Springfield, whose game with Charleston was postponed.

Erie defeated Dayton 6 to 3.

Cuba had 61,568 telephones in service at the beginning of this year, compared with 59,317 a year before.

Lou Collects Four of Five Hits Granted by Lefty Ed Smith.

By The Associated Press
There were only two five-hit ball games pitched in the major leagues yesterday and neither of them was good enough to win. Who had the misfortune to lose such a well-pitched game? Lefty Edger Smith of the Chicago White Sox should be the first guess, and that's right.

Everything happens to Cotton-Top and last night it was Lou Boudreau. The boy manager of the Indians personally collected four of the five hits made off Smith and one was Boudreau's first homer of the year.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, July 1.—There won't be any fireworks thereabouts July 4, but there should be plenty at the major league meeting two days later, when the boys start bringing up such propositions as the traveling world series and Jack Zeller's no-spring-training idea. From here, Zeller's suggestion of starting late and training at home sounds good; but to make the 1943 season (if any) a success, we favor playing week-ends only until the usual closing time. Teams could play night or twilight games Friday, double-headers Saturdays and Sundays and do pretty well. The players might even take up Art Rooney's idea for the pro footballers and get useful jobs for the other five days. Traveling could be cut down to a war-time level by separating the eastern and western sections.

A Honey of a Hunch—James E. Doyle of the Cleveland Plain Dealer reports that a dazzling blond rushed into the Thistle Down horse track the other day brandishing a shotgun and shrieking, "Take it away from me or I'll kill him." A guard obligingly relieved her of the gun while the veteran horse players merely shrugged, looked at their programs and hurried off to get down bets on Military Girl. The hunch won from here to there.

Today's Guest Star—Bill Diehl, Norfolk, Va., Ledger-Dispatch: "Sammy Sneed, who it will be remembered, blew two big tournaments with last hole eight, has resumed using the past tense of the verb 'eat' since he won that P. G. A. championship."

Cleaning The Cuff—Jesse Owens, now a recreation specialist in the division of disease health and welfare of the Federal Security Agency, confines his springing to occasional exhibitions, but keeps in shape by playing golf, tennis and basketball. "Golf dern that golf," says Jesse, "I love to play but I just can't do any good."

NINTH ANNUAL A. A. ALL-STAR GAME TO BE STAGED JULY 23

Baseball Writers Now Naming Squad; Blues Lead by Three Games.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., July 1.—The ninth annual American association all-star baseball game will be staged "somewhere" the night of July 23.

The contest will be played at the home park of the club holding the lead.

"Big Card, Thursday"

Marion wrestling fans will have their biggest card in months at the Armory Thursday night. Farmer Jones, the hillbillie, grapples from the Ozarks, will meet Billy Venable in the two hour main event. Rufus Jones will don gloves for his ten round grudge fight with the Black Panther and Joe Ferens will tackle Bobby Castle in the one fall opener. The Farmer is the biggest drawing card in the wrestling business and a ten round fight between the Black Panther and Rufus spells action in any town. Prices will remain the same with tickets on sale at Markert & Lewis Clear Store. More electric fans will be added for the benefit of the patron's comfort.—Adv.

PUGILIST HAS NEW ALLY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Harry Jaffra's newest roster probably will be screaming Friday night when the Baltimore scrapper steps into the ring in a title bout with featherweight champion (New York version) Chalky Wright although he may not be in the immediate vicinity. The fighter's wife gave birth to a son Saturday.

Lieut. Cochrane Lists Payers for Service Game

By The Associated Press
GREAT LAKES, Ill., July 1.—Lieut. Cochrane released today a list of players who will play for the all-service team from the major league clubs at Cleveland July 7.

Cochrane, formerly manager of the Detroit Tigers and now a major league scout, scheduled the game as a fund-raiser for the American Red Cross.

The team will consist of: Catchers—Frank Pylak (Red Sox), Vince Smith (Pittsburgh), Ray Sylvestri (Yankees).

First Base—Bob Feller (Cleveland), John Rigney (White Sox), John Grodzicki (Cardinals), Hank Harris (Red Sox), Fred Hutchinson (Detroit).

Second Base—Cecil Travis (Washington), John Sturm (Yankees), Chester Valadek (property of the White Sox, last year with Washington), Ben McCoy (Athletics), Emmett Walker (Phillies), John Luca (Browns), Ernie Andrews (Columbians).

Outfielders—Don Padgett (Cardinals), Sam Chapman (Athletics), Joe Grace (Browns), Morris Aronovich (Glasgow), Frank Baumholtz (property of the Cincinnati Reds, who was a sergeant in World War I).

Sylvestri, Grodzicki, Harris, Travis, Sturm, Mueller and Aronovich are army men. The others are with the navy.

ARRIVES HERE

Committee Aids Schools with Free Lunches

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, July 1.—H. T. Knecht, secretary and treasurer of the Mt. Gilead Citizens Committee, which sponsors the annual community Christmas party for children, announced today that the committee is paying the Mt. Gilead schools $250 and the Edison schools $30 to reimburse the schools for free lunches supplied to children during the last school year.

The committee annually collects funds for defraying expenses of the Christmas party for the children and the amounts given the schools represent an excess over expenses of last year.

Galion School Patrol Hears State Officer

Special to The Star
GALION, July 1.—Addressing members of the Galion school safety patrol, State Highway Patrolman W. C. Smith of Mansfield, spoke Tuesday in the second of a series of training meetings for the patrol.

The course of summer training is in charge of the Galion Automobile Club and is under the direction of City Patrolman B. A. Robinson. After outlining a brief history of the state highway patrol, Patrolman Smith stressed points of safety and gave preventive measures for accidents. Next week's meeting will be held at Heise park on Tuesday at 9:30 A. M.

Galion Club Entertained at Mrs. D. A. Weir's Home

Special to The Star
GALION, July 1.—Two tables of five hundred were filled when Mrs. D. A. Weir entertained members of the B. P. O. club at her home Tuesday night. Luncheon was served by the hostess.

A picnic supper was planned when members of the Altar and Fireside Circle of the Trinity Lutheran church were entertained at the home of Mrs. D. A. Weir Tuesday night. The supper will be held at Heise Park Tuesday night, July 7.

Special to The Star
CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—William J. Treese, member of the University of Illinois staff in physical education since he was graduated here in 1928, and also assistant freshman football coach since 1930, departed recently for Miami, Fla., to enter training for physical education work in the army air corps.

DIES UNDER TRACTOR

By The Associated Press
DAYTON, O., July 1.—Eldon G. Martin, 38, of Xenia, a civilian employee at the army's Patterson field here, was killed late yesterday when he fell from one tractor beneath the wheels of another.

REFUGE TRAPPING RESULTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Much game is trapped on sanctuaries and game refuges under auspices of the conservation division for restocking in hunting areas each year.

Last winter conservation field men trapped 4,195 pheasants, 3,208 rabbits and 107 squirrels. Rabbits were captured by driving them into box traps. Pheasants were taken by means of a trap developed and perfected after years of use by field men. Squirrels are usually removed at the request of property owners, especially in cities when they get too numerous.

FISHING HINTS

Good catches of channel catfish are being reported in many inland lakes. The channel cat is the most plender of all catfish. The head is narrow and small, the eyes being placed nearer the upper surface of the head than the lower. The ground color is normally some shade of blue, never yellow.

It is generally distributed throughout Ohio and is mostly confined to the lakes and larger rivers. This cat is a deep-water fish and prefers a sandy, gravel or sand bottom to one of mud. They are to be found in those parts of a river which have a good current, rather than in the backwater, or more sluggish situations.

BULLETIN BOARDS PLACED IN ALL AREAS

When Ohio anglers visit Ohio's lakes this year they will have an opportunity to know all the fishing regulations and information regarding whether boating is permitted on the lake—in fact all the information needed for a good day's fishing.

Bulletin boards have been built during the winter by the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources and are now being erected at a great number of the division's lakes, as well as others under supervision of the division.

ing first place after the July 12 contests.

With but one exception, all proceeds from the game will be donated to army and navy relief. The exception, requested by army-navy relief officials, is that expenses in connection with opening the game be paid from the receipts.

Final plans for the contest will be made after the field is determined, but the baseball writers, co-sponsors of the game with the league, are now voting on the all-star squad's personnel.

It looked today, however, like the Kansas City Blues might be the host team July 23, when they split a double-header with Indianapolis last night, winning the opener, 2-1, and dropping the nightcap, 10-1, and hold a three and a half game edge on second place Milwaukee.

Milwaukee lost to Louisville, 3-1, last night. Toledo defeated St. Paul, 2-1, in 10 innings in the only other contest of the evening. The Columbus-Minneapolis split was postponed because of inclement weather.

DELAWARE POLICE SHIFTS
DELAWARE, O., July 1.—With the retirement of Police Chief Earl Amrine effective today, Mayor Moses Spaulding yesterday announced further reorganization of the city police department.

Patrolman Hase Young, recovering from an illness, was named night captain to fill a vacancy created when Robert Leavitt was named acting chief. Everett Shuster of Delaware was given a temporary patrolman appointment and Delbert Morris of Delaware was raised from a temporary appointment as a patrolman to a probationary appointment.
